

OculaPlex®

Eye protection complex with vitamin A and antioxidant vitamin E*

Antioxidants for the eyes*

The eyes, especially the structures in the retina, are particularly exposed to UV radiation from light. To prevent exposure to oxidative stress, these tissues are rich in protective antioxidants*. Carotene and carotenoids are also increasingly found in the retina. As "inner sunglasses", these natural substances filter the light. Biogena OculaPlex® contains an eye protection complex of vitamins A, E, C zinc and selenium*, which is especially recommended for increased sun exposure or stress such as prolonged reading or computer work. Vitamin A is important for maintaining vision. Vitamin E helps protect cells from oxidative stress. To round things off, it also contains valuable carotenoids and plant extracts from blackcurrant, blueberry, acerola cherry, ginkgo biloba and grape seeds. Ubiquinol from the market leader KANEKA and R-alpha lipoic acid are other high-quality ingredients.

Biogena OculaPlex®:

*Vitamin A and zinc contribute to the maintenance of normal vision.

Zinc, selenium and vitamins C and E help protect cells from oxidative stress caused by free radicals.

Possible uses:

- As a nutritional measure to support eye function*, especially during stress such as prolonged reading or computer work
- Supportive for increased oxidative stress*, such as increased UV exposure from sun, snow, water or altitude, or from smoking.
