

Phyto Biotika®

Plant power from 5 continents plus naturally contained vitamin C to support the body's defences

The body's immune system is often strongly challenged. And sometimes it also needs external support. This is where selected plant substances come into play, which have been used for centuries in herbal science to support the immune system.

Biogena Phyto Biotika® relies on a combination of traditional plant extracts from the 5 continents: Vitamin C-rich Amla extract (Phyllanthus emblica) from Asia is combined with thyme leaf extract (Thymus vulgaris) from Europe, Cat's Claw extract (Uncaria tomentosa) from South America, eucalyptus leaf extract (Eucalyptus globulus) from Australia and geranium extract (Pelargonium sidoides) from Africa. The mixture is supplemented by extract from the tragacanth root (Astragalus membranaceus), which can be found throughout the northern hemisphere.

The plant extracts astragalus, thyme and cat's claw contained in Phyto Biotika® complement each other and the naturally contained vitamin C from Amla extract supports the body's defences, especially in the wet and cold season.
