

SoluDrops® Astaxanthin

Free radicals are produced in the body every day – through stress, intense sunlight, exercise, or environmental factors. This is where antioxidants come into play: they help the body restore this balance. Vitamin E, for example, can help protect cells from oxidative stress.

Astaxanthin is a natural carotenoid from the microalgae Haematococcus pluvialis. When stressed by food or water shortages, strong sunlight, or extreme cold, it reacts by producing its characteristic red natural pigment. Together with vitamin E, this results in a well-thought-out combination of natural substances.

SoluDrops® Astaxanthin provides 6 mg of natural astaxanthin per daily serving—supplemented with 6 mg of vitamin E, 100% vegan and free from unnecessary additives. The innovative liquid formula can be easily and individually dosed using a pipette—no capsules, no hassle.

The astaxanthin drops are ideal for everyone – in hectic everyday life, during periods of particular stress, or as a daily contribution to a conscious nutritional routine.

- As a daily contribution to cell protection
- Vitamin E helps protect cells from oxidative stress.
- For people with increased oxidative stress (e.g., due to environmental pollution, stress, intense physical activity, UV radiation)
- For anyone who prefers a simple, liquid supplement without capsules
- Ideal for a conscious daily routine with a focus on antioxidants (vitamin E) and carotenoids (astaxanthin)

Bioavailable micronutrients in pure form

- Based on the pure substance principle
- No colorings, flavorings or coatings
